II. What are the risks and what could I get in return?

Summary Risk Indicator

Lower Risk < 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 > Higher Risk

The risk indicator assumes you keep the product until the end of the recommended holding period (July 29, 2019). You may not be able to end your product early. You may have to pay significant extra costs to end your product early.

The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the markets or because we are not able to pay you. We have classified this product as 7 out of 7, which is the highest risk class. This rates the potential losses from future performance at a very high level, and poor market conditions are very unlikely to impact the capacity of the product manufacturer to pay you. Be aware of currency risk. You will receive payments in a different currency, so the final return you will get depends on the exchange rate between the two currencies. This risk is not considered in the indicator shown above. In some circumstances you may be required to make payments to pay for losses. The total loss you may incur may significantly exceed the amount invested. This product does not include any protection from future market performance so you could incur significant losses. If we are not able to pay you what is owed, you could incur significant losses.

The scenarios presented are an estimate of future performance based on evidence from the past on how the value of this investment varies, and are not an exact indicator. What you get will vary depending on how the market performs and how long you keep the product. The stress scenario shows what you might get back in extreme market circumstances, and it does not take into account the situation where we are not able to pay you. This product cannot be ended early. You may nevertheless enter into an additional counter transaction at some costs before expiry. You will either be unable to end early or you will have to pay high costs or make a large loss if you do so. The figures shown include all the costs of the product itself, but may not include all the costs that you pay to your advisor or distributor. The figures do not take into account your personal tax situation, which may also affect how much you get back.

This product is designed to be held to the agreed final settlement date in order to match your investment requirement. Non-transferable over-the-Counter (OTC) product is intended to be entered into for its term and cannot be easily closed due to the lack of an organized secondary market. In the OTC derivatives market, the product manufacturer acts as a sole market-maker by providing indicative valuation prices, if any, at which you may be able to execute a closing transaction of the product. In case of an early closing transaction, in whole or in part, the final settlement amount is linked to different market parameters and could be a substantial loss or profit to you. Normally the final settlement amount is not subject to any penalty charges.
